

Report F3A World Cup 2013

The F3A World Cup 2013 was the first one under the new World Cup coordinator, Bob Romijn. Looking back at this year, I can conclude it was successful with no known incidents. This year there were introduced the following initiatives to improve the F3A World Cup:

- The FAI website is now used to be the official F3A World Cup website (<http://www.fai.org/world-cups/f3a-radio-control-aerobatics>)
- Before the official event submission, the organizers are approached to provide the requested dates to prevent important collisions.

Despite the attempt to prevent collisions, there was still a collision within the same region. This was caused by the fact that Reichenburg was a new competition and wasn't approached for the requested dates. For the year 2014 a preview of the event submissions will be send to the coordinator to have an early warning.

As can be seen in the statistics, the F3A World Cup is still quite a European Cup. The coordinator is looking actively to enlarge the World Cup to other continents by convincing potential organizers.

Protests

In 2013 the World Cup jury panel consisted out of the following persons:

- Michael Ramel (GER)
- Norbert Polatscheck (AUT)
- Tom-Erik Sorensen (NOR)

No protests in any competition are known and also the World Cup Jury didn't receive any protest.

The Winner

The winner of the F3A World Cup 2013 is Gernot Bruckmann from Austria.

Conclusion

The F3A World Cup 2013 (the 6th edition) was successful. Though there was one competition less than 2012, the number of participants increased. There seems to be a ceiling in the number of participants at this moment as the organized competitions are in the same area. To make the number increase, there should be organized additional competitions into other continents.

A European area where a World Cup is missing is in Scandinavia. The forecast to 2014 looks promising with requested competitions in Germany and France.
